REPORT
OF THE
DEPUTY POSTMASTER GENERAL
1922-1923

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,

OTTAWA, September 10, 1923.

To the Honourable

CHARLES MURPHY, K.C., LL.D., M.P.,
Postmaster General of Canada.

I have the honour to submit the following report of the operations of the Post Office Department for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1923, as shown in summarized statements covering the various branches of the Department.

In addition to the operations hereinafter summarized, I have also to report that, pursuant to your instructions, the following postal measures have been initiated to better serve the public.

UNITED STATES POSTAL CONFERENCE AND CONVENTION.

A Postal Conference with the United States was held in December last, and resulted in a convention effective the 1st of January, 1923, providing for changes in postal arrangements of considerable advantage to both countries. The delegates representing the two postal administrations arrived at agreements which will facilitate the exchange of mails between Canada and the United States, and provide for the transmission of mails belonging to each country through the territory of the other on a more equitable basis, having regard to the expense involved in the conveyance of such mails.

Among the other advantages that might be mentioned as accruing from the Conference are, the increased facilities for parcel post exchange, reciprocal arrangements for insurance of parcels, increased indemnity for lost registered articles, improved arrangements for special delivery service in either country, closer co-operation between the Post Office officials of both countries in connection with matters that call for investigation, improved money order service, better arrangements for the treatment of mail matter posted without sufficient postage, and a much improved exchange of dead letters between the two countries, which has resulted in a great saving of work and consequent expense.

This Conference also provided for an improvement in connection with investigations and enquiries concerning mail matter passing between the two countries, and the result has provided a much prompter and more efficient service in connection with complaints from the public in both countries.

Arrangements were also made under which parcels from Canada will be conveyed through the United States to South American countries. This new arrangement means a saving of from three to four weeks in time, as previous to its being made parcels for South America were sent to England and thence shipped back across the Atlantic to the places to which they were addressed.

14 GEORGE V, A. 1924

MONEY ORDER CONVENTION BETWEEN CANADA AND CHINA.

Following the withdrawal of British postal agencies from China which hitherto acted as intermediaries for the exchange of money orders between Canada and that country, arrangements were made between the Canadian and Chinese Postal Administrations for a direct money order exchange, which went into effect on the first of January, 1923.

DIRECT PARCEL POST WITH CHINA.

A direct exchange of parcel post with Chinese Post Offices in China was arranged. The exchange offices are: Vancouver for Canada and Shanghai Chinese Post Office for China.

MONEY ORDER CONVENTION BETWEEN CANADA AND THE IRISH FREE STATE.

A Convention for the direct exchange of Money Orders between Canada and the Irish Free State has been negotiated and will come into effect on the 1st January, 1924.

DOMINION POSTAL CONFERENCE.

In pursuance of a policy inaugurated in the month of February, 1922, weekly business conferences are held in the Post Office Department at which the heads of the several branches are present. These conferences have had results beneficial alike to the Department and the public. As an extension of that policy, a conference of Dominion postal officials was called in October, 1922. The purpose, broadly speaking, was a desire to promote co-operation between employees of the postal service of Canada, and to increase and extend the efficiency of that service. The results of the Conference amply justified the expectations of those who collaborated in arranging it. Discussions took place which have since served as the basis for the consideration of the policies of the Department, and improvements in postal arrangements have resulted and are continuing to result which are proving of material advantage to the Postal service and the public at large.

C.O.D. SERVICE.

A Post Office C.O.D. service was established in October, 1922, and is providing an additional commercial facility which business firms, particularly retailers and those in various lines of repair business, apparently appreciate. The number of C.O.D. articles mailed since October, 1922, has increased from 14,684 in that month to 27,373 in March last. The increase since Christmas has been gradual and shows that this service is becoming very popular. The total number for the first six months the service has been in operation is approximately 125,000.

The C.O.D. service has proved to be of particular advantage to firms who do not issue catalogues, and whose prices are not known to the buyer, and in cases where the buyer is not known to the dealer. It protects both the buyer and the seller, eliminates the carrying of small charge accounts, makes refunds and adjustments unnecessary, and speeds up the whole transaction.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 30

POST OFFICE PHILATELIC AGENCY.

In response to requests from philatelists of Canada covering a long period of years, an agency for the sale of current issues of all Canadian postage stamps was established in March last. This is proving very popular with the stamp collectors, and, although the agency has only been in effect for a short period, it gives promise of proving a substantial source of revenue to the Department. Orders have commenced to come in from foreign countries and the sales are increasing accordingly.

POST OFFICE PUBLICITY.

A definite policy in regard to post office publicity has been vigorously pursued during the past year, whereby the Department is advertising its various services in such a way as to bring them favourably before the public with a view to increased business and increased revenue, and also with the object of obtaining public co-operation in order to make better service possible. This publicity follows such lines as advertising on its post office die hubs, advertising by posters, advertising by leaflets distributed to householders, radio talks, postal talks by postmasters, also along the lines of postal co-operation on the part of the public, including illustrated lectures with slides on postal subjects of interest to the public, postal exhibits at Fairs and Exhibitions, etc.

The educational campaign carried on to inform the public regarding the operation of the Postal Service during the past year has resulted in a better delivery of mail matter, a marked decrease in letters forwarded to the Dead Letter Offices, and an evident improvement generally, due to improved facilities for furnishing the public with information enabling them to make up mail matter in accordance with postal regulations, so as to avoid delay and non-delivery.

IMPROVED ESPRIT DE CORPS.

Another phase of postal activity to which special attention has been given has been the development of a general spirit of co-operation throughout the postal service, the improvement of the morale of the service, the recognition of faithful performance of duty, the encouragement of constructive suggestions looking towards improvement in the service—this work being undertaken through the Post Office Weekly Bulletin, a new phase of postal activity which is undoubtedly having a beneficial influence on the service at large and introducing a personal note which was previously lacking. This development of the human element in the service is most desirable; its results are already being seen, and if properly fostered it should greatly promote esprit de corps, which, after all is fundamental to public service.

IMPROVEMENT IN WORKING CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYEES.

It was the practice in the past to take on relief employees in the postal service during the annual leave season. These temporary men commenced their employment in April or May, and were released after the termination of the holiday season, often at the commencement of Winter. By extending the period during which annual leave is taken and by establishing reserve staffs, known collectively as the Postal Pool, it has been possible to take care of the holiday relief and other emergencies peculiar to the postal service with comparatively no additional expenditure. Moreover, this reserve staff constitutes a training school and makes it possible to give a better public service through retaining experienced men instead of releasing them in the Fall of each year and taking on "green" hands in the Spring. By the introduction of the Postal Pool, it has been possible to give a greater degree of permanency to the positions of the men engaged on relief work than was formerly practicable, which creates a greater measure of content amongst the staff and reacts favourably upon the public service. This arrangement has been further developed to provide avenues of promotion to all branches of the service, thereby enlarging the field of opportunities to which postal employees may aspire.

Steps have also been taken to improve conditions under which employees work. Lunch rooms have been established at the larger centres, and this will be further extended at other offices where circumstances are favourable and the necessary accommodation available.

"CRIME WAVE" DIMINISHED.

Not long ago thefts and abstractions from the mails were increasing to an alarming extent and reflected what was known as the "Crime Wave," which at the time was more or less universal throughout Canada and the United States. In carrying out the reorganization of the Postal Service special attention has been given to investigation work with the result that in the past year a greater number of arrests and convictions for thefts from the mails were made than during any corresponding period, and a greater percentage of the cases were satisfactorily concluded. This has resulted in a marked diminution of the so-called "Crime Wave" in so far as the postal service is concerned.

The co-operation which has been established recently between the Postal Districts in Canada has resulted in a much more effective checking up of irregularities, and made possible the apprehension of thieves, who, previous to this, were enabled to escape the consequences of their acts.

INCREASED MONEY ORDER BUSINESS.

Post Office money order business shows a decided increase for the fiscal year 1923 over the fiscal year 1922. For instance, 11,100,000 Post Office money orders were issued during the fiscal year ended the 31st March, 1923, as compared with 10,000,000 during the previous fiscal year, thus proving the efficiency of the service given and showing the beneficial result of the publicity which the Department has persistently given to this feature of the postal service.

REDUCED RATE PAID TO RAILWAYS.

Of the various economies effected, perhaps the most important in postal matters is that which was made by reducing the rates paid to railways for conveyance of the mails. This was brought about through conferences between officers of the Post Office Department and the Department of Railways and Canals respectively, who were directed to make a compilation of the cost of operating the different kinds of mail services performed by the railways, with a view to fixing rates which would give fair compensation and put the baggage car mail service on a fairer basis. The railways agreed to accept the new rates effective from the first of June, 1922, and these have resulted in a saving of $400,000 per annum to the Post Office Department, and consequently to the tax-paying public.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 30

IMPROVED BUSINESS METHODS.

Improvements have been made in the method of conducting Post Office business, both in the Operating field and at the seat of administration. These improvements embrace a variety of subjects and cover such items as mechanical accounting in connection with money order accounts, Government owned motor truck transportation service for the collection and delivery of mail, improved registration system, improved lay-out of Post Offices in connection with new buildings. Other potential improvements are being tried out. In addition, changes in organization have been effected, resulting in an aggregate saving, on this account alone, of approximately $300,000, and at the same time increasing the efficiency of the Service.

GRATIFYING FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The financial operations of the Post Office Department for the year ended the 31st of March, 1923, show a betterment as compared with the previous year of $3,034,617.72, the revenue having increased $2,707,694.54 and the expenditure showing a reduction of $326,923.18. This is the first time since 1898 that the yearly expenditure of the Post Office Department has been reduced. The Post Office service is continually expanding and calling for increased expenditure from year to year, but owing to the adoption of more businesslike methods in the Department, such as the adjustment of the railway mail rates above mentioned, it has been found possible to reduce the cost of operating the postal service without curtailing the public services of the Department or withholding necessary expansion in any direction.

The increase in revenue is in a large measure due to the improved service provided the public in the way of better parcel post facilities, including the insurance and C.O.D. features, also the marked increase in money order business which indicates that more business is being done through the Post Office Department than formerly.

Deputy Postmaster General.

RURAL MAIL DELIVERY

The rural mail delivery system being one of the most costly operations of the Post Office Department, the policy has been, in view of the necessity for strict economy, to curtail its extension in so far as the establishment of new routes was concerned. However, during the year ended 31st March, 1923, the number of boxes served was increased by 3,738.

GENERAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT, 1922-23
